Update on 25 August 20, 2021 as a recruiter, I met and interviewed hundreds of candidates who have no idea who they are. Without a personal brand, candidates struggle to answer the question: Â º,~ "was you? Â º,~" have no idea who they are, what are their strengths and how they can add value to society. They have their CV, believing that their CV is the key to their career success. In in Ways, your CV still has its use. However, in today's work market, you need more than one CV to stand out in a crowd. Dry celinne from the coast: Â º,~ "Brandsonal Brand is essentially your golden ticket for networking with the right people, to be taken for Dream Job, or built an influential business." She believes that "A strong personal brand allows you to stand out in a over-different market by exposing the desired audience to your vision, skillset and personality in a strategically aligned way strategically with your career goals. Â »A personal brand opens your world to many Other career opportunities that you would never have been exposed with only your cv.qual is your personal brand? Â º,~ "DePersonal branding is the way a badge market your unique .â, Â º" Bernard Kelvin Clive today, the labor market is very competitive and hard. Having a big CV will let you just go so far because everyone has a CV, but no one else has your distinguished personal brand! It is your personal brand that differentiates you from everyone else and this is what people buy ... all your personal brand is your brand on the world. It is the way people interact and the world see you. It's your inheritance ... it is more important than a business brand because your personal brand lasts forever. I have trained people who have a successful career, and come to me because they suddenly discovered that they are not getting opportunities or having the conversations that would have to their next role. They are having what I call a Â º,~ Â "career meltdown." all because they do not have a personal brand. The personal brand helps you become aware of your differences and your unique. It allows you to position you in a way that you It makes it stand out from the package, especially among other potential job candidates. It didn't make me wrong, having a big CV and a great profile of LinkedIn is important. However, there are some steps you have to take to have a CV and LinkedIn profile that It is aligned with those you are, the value you offer to the market, and personal warranty you provide results. Your personal brand is about strategically, creatively, and professionally present what makes you, you. Knowing who you are and the value that Ports to the table allows you to be more informative, agile and adaptable to the changing dynamic world of work. It is so that you can avoid having a series of career flows. Your personal brand is essential for your SUCC It was a career in her article, because the personal brand is more important than ever, Caroline Castrillon outlines the main reasons why a personal brand is essential for career success. According to Castrillon, Â º,~ "more popular for recruiters to use social media during the interview process. According to a 2018 careerbuilder survey, 70% of employers use social media to shield candidates during the process Assumption, and 43% of employers use social media to verify current employees. Â »The first thing I do as a recruiter when I want to control a candidate customer or coaching is to look for them on LinkedIn or other platforms of Social Media, like Facebook, Instagram and Twitter. Your fingerprint is the window that highlights the world you are. When you have no control on how you want to see, you're making a big mistake because you're leaving someone else to do a Judgment for you for what you are. Like Jeff Bezos, Amazon's founder, once said, Â º,~ "Your brand is what people say about you when you're not in the room." In his book, becoming O, Michelle Obama writes about the importance of having a personal brand and her journey to define her personal brand. You wrote that: Â º,~ Â "If you don't remove you and don't You would be quickly defined quickly and inaccureed by others. "When you have a personal brand, you have control. You know exactly what people will tell you when you leave the room. The magic of a personal brand is that you dÂ Check on how you want to be seen in the world. Your trust and conviction allows you to take advantage of opportunities and make informed decisions about your career and your future. He does not experience the frustrations of a fusion of career or being in a junction not knowing what to do after with your career or your life. With a personal brand, you have focus, clarity and a strategy to move forward towards the future success. Creation of your personal brand won't happen during the night. It takes a lot of work and self-reflection. You expect us to use out of your comfort zone once, but many times. The good news is that more time spend outside your comfort zone, you will most like it. Being outside your comfort zone is where you can test the profitability and optimize your personal brand. 5 key steps to create your personal brand These five passes will help you create a personal brand that will deliver you the results you want with your career and in life. 1. Set up your personal goals What do you want to do over the next five years? What will your future future in the coming five or ten years? What is important for you? If you can answer these questions, then you're on the right path. Otherwise, you have to start thinking about them. 2. Create your single value proposal creates your single value proposal by asking yourself these four questions: what are your characteristics of your personality? What benefit do you offer people? Who are you and why do people have fun working with you? What do you do and what do you want people to do for them? How do you solve their problems? What makes you different from others like you? The answers to these questions will give you the information you need to create your professional history, which is the main step to create your personal brand. 3. Write your professional history knowing who you are, what you want, and the unique value you offer is essential for you to create your professional history. People remember stories. Your personal history incorporates your valuable proposal and tells the people you are and what makes you unique. This is what people remember you. 4. Determine which platforms will support your personal brand decide which social media accounts and online platforms will better represent your brand and will allow you to share your voice. In a professional capacity, with a LinkedIn profile and a CV that reflects your brand is essential for your positioning in relation to the role opportunities. People will connect with you because you like the story you're saying. 5. It becomes recognized to share your knowledge and skills a great way to promote yourself is sharing knowledge and helping others. Here is where you show you to know your things and get an exhibition to do it. You can do it through social media, write, comment, video, unite professional groups, networking, etc. Find your style and unique and use it to attract customers, opportunities or jobs you want. The importance of having a staff the brand will not go away. In fact, it is the only way you can stand out and be unique in a complex world that changes work. If you don't have a personal brand, someone will do it for you. If you let it happen, you have no control and you may not like that the story they create. Giving out from others takes time and investment. Most people can not make change alone, and here involving a personal brand is a viable option to consider. As a personal train coach, which works with my clients to create their personal brand is my passion. I love the fact that we can work together to create a personal history that defines exactly what people will tell you when the room. The stories of other people who listen to the stories of other people is a great way to learn. In him article, 7 Ted speaks of the personal brand, Rafael Dos Santos presents the best talks in which speakers share theirs About the Â º,~ "because, Â º,~ â" this thing. Â º,~ and Â º,~ â "this of a personal brand. ((Guidedpr: 7 Ted the talks on the brand Personal) will take some time to listen to these speakers share their stories and their thoughts on the personal brand. You will surely be so much on how you can start your journey to define yourself and take control of your professional and personal life. Your personal brand, without a doubt, is your secret weapon for your career success. As Michelle Obama said, Â º,~ "Your story is what you have, what you will always have. It's something from possess. Then, go your story. Go traveling to create your own personal brand that defines who you are, underlines your unique and the value you offer to the world. Photo credit.
